THE CENTURY
FOR 1882-83.
The twelfth year of this magazine—the first under the new name, and the most successful in its history, closed with the October number. The circulation has shown a large gain over that of the preceding season, and THE CENTURY begins its thirteenth year with an edition of 140,000 Copies.
The following are the leading features:
A NEW NOVEL BY W. D. HOWELLS, to succeed this author's "Modern Instance." It will be an international story, entitled "A Sea Change."
LIFE IN THE THIRTEEN COLONIES, BY EDWARD EGGLESTON,—the leading historical feature of the year; to consist of a number of papers, on such topics as "The Beginning of a Nation," "Social Life in the Colonies," etc., the whole forming a complete history of early life in the United States. Especial attention will be paid to accuracy of illustration.
A NOVELETTE OF MINING LIFE, BY MARY HALLOCK FOOTE, entitled "The Led-Horse Claim," to be illustrated by the author.
THE POINT OF VIEW, BY HENRY JAMES, Jr., a series of eight letters from imaginary persons of various nationalities, criticizing America, its people, society, manners, railroads, etc.
THE CHRISTIAN LEAGUE OF CONNECTICUT, by the Rev. Washington Gladden. An account of practical co-operation in Christian work, showing how a league was formed in a small town in Connecticut, what kinds of work it attempted, and how it spread throughout the whole state.
THE NEW ERA IN AMERICAN HOUSE-BUILDING, a series of four papers, fully illustrated, devoted to (1) City Houses, (2) Country Houses, (3) Churches, and (4) Public Buildings.
THE CREOLES OF LOUISIANA, by Geo. W. Cable, author of "Old Creole Days," etc.; a fresh and graphic narrative, richly illustrated.
MY ADVENTURES IN ZUNI, by Frank H. Cushing, government ethnologist, an adopted member of the Zuni tribe of Indians. Illustrated.
ILLUSTRATED PAPERS ON THE NATIONAL CAPITAL, including "The Capitol," "The Supreme Court," "The White House," etc.
MISSIONS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, by "H. H."; three or four papers of an exceedingly interesting character, richly illustrated.
Miscellaneous.
Further work is expected from E. C. Stedman, Thomas Hughes, Joel Chandler Harris ("Uncle Remus"), Charles Dudley Warner, John Burroughs, E. V. Smalley, H. H. Boyesen, and a long list of others. Entertaining short stories and novelettes will be among the leading features of THE CENTURY, as heretofore and the magazine will continue its advance in general excellence.
The subscription price is $4.00 a year; 35 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number, and to enable new subscribers to commence with the new series under THE CENTURY name, we make the following
Special Offer.
A year's subscription from Nov., 1882, and the twelve numbers of the past year, unbound, $6.00. A subscription and the twelve back numbers bound in two elegant volumes with gilt top, $7.50.

Safe Investment.
6 Per Cent Gold Bonds.
TOPEKA, SALINA & WESTERN RAILROAD CO. OF KANSAS.
This Company was organized for the purpose of giving railroad facilities to the people of Shawnee, Wabaunsee, Morris, Dickinson, Saline, Lincoln and Osborne counties, and is to run from Topeka, southwesterly and westerly, as above indicated, to Delhi, near the eastern line of Osborne county, a distance of 181 miles, passing through that remarkable territory known as the "Great Wheat Belt of Kansas." This particular territory has been, and now is, without adequate railroad conveniences, there being from 15 to 30 miles on each side of this proposed line unincumbered by any railroad, notwithstanding the population of the eight counties through which the road passes, numbered in 1881 one hundred and twenty-five thousand souls, and every acre of land susceptible of the highest cultivation.
The Company will issue six per cent forty-year bonds, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD, in the city of Boston, at the rate of $20,000 per mile, and will issue its stock at the rate of $25,000 per mile; these said securities to be delivered to the contractor on the completion of the road in sections of ten miles each; said completion, according to specified requirements, to be certified to by the Chief Engineer of the Company before the delivery of the bonds and stock for such ten miles.
The work of construction is progressing rapidly, and it is estimated that by the 1st of December the road beds will be completed 40 miles west of the city of Topeka, to the town of Alma.
SUBSCRIPTIONS to these bonds may be made at the office of the contractor on the following terms:
For $800, twelve shares of stock (par value $50 each) and a $1000 bond will be given, the latter bearing interest at six per cent. from the date of sale.
This price will be advanced from time to time as the building of the road progresses, or within the discretion of the contractor.
Full particulars will be cheerfully given to those who may call at the office, or any inquiry by mail will be promptly answered.

"The Jersey Lily"
Attributes the clearness of her complexion solely to the care she has taken of her feet. "Why!" she remarked to a reporter, "I was once the worst looking girl in Jersey, simply because I persisted in wearing tight and unpliable boots, which any one that has studied anatomy well knows, will compress the adipose tissues, and give an abnormal tendency to the pericardium, which must eventually produce a sluggish current of the sanguinous corpuscles through the cerebral conduits, and therefore cause a sedimentary deposit in the cellular cavities of the cuticle. I had no more trouble, and date my good looks from the time I adopted the

The Lewiston Journal says that a young man, covered with mud, and with several bad cuts and bruises on his face, came into a Lewiston drug store, a few evenings ago, and requested the clerk to dress and plaster his wounds. He nearly fainted while the operation was performed. It transpires that there was a tinge of romance in the blood of the affair. The young man had seen "another fellow" walking home with his adored one, a few nights previous. The first time be met his rival he flung the gauntlet in his face. The encounter was disastrous to the challenger.

The first night he asked to take Mr. O'Brion's watch so that he could arise at the right time in the morning. He was handed the watch, and in the morning Varney was gone and so was the watch. Friday, Officer Rice arrested Varney and locked him up. Varney says he has sold the watch.

FROM EAST CORINTH.

LECTURE ON MORMONS—AN OPERETTA—EXHIBITION BY ACADEMY STUDENTS.

E. CORINTH, Nov. 9, 1882.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

The citizens of this village have had an opportunity of attending, within the last few days, a lecture on Mormonism, an Operetta, an Exhibition by the students of East Corinth Academy, and a grand ball at Nichols' Hall.

The lecture was given by Rev. Sewall Brown, of this place, at the Town Hall, to an attentive and appreciative audience. He commenced by giving a vivid description of the majestic scenery surrounding the beautiful "City of the Saints," then of the city itself, (where he resided for a year or more), including the Temple, Tabernacle, Endowment House, Theatre, and other public buildings, private residences, streets, gardens, parks, etc., etc. This was followed by a brief sketch of Mormon celebrities from Joe Smith down, Mormon Bible, Gentiles in Utah, theology, theoretical and practical polygamy, church schism, mysteries, Mormon wives, and the present condition and prospects of the greatest of modern humbugs. The lecture held the closest attention of the audience for more than an hour, and was pronounced by many as the best they had ever heard on the subject.

The production of the Operetta, "Maud Irving, the Orphan," at Nichols' Hall, under the direction of Mrs. Nellie Davis, and Miss Annie Young, of New York, was certainly an artistic and charming entertainment. The work was well put upon the stage, the vocal and orchestral music was well rendered, and the costumes and scenery were very appropriate. The operetta itself embodies a good moral, and is simply the story of a kind-hearted old lady, who generously assisted a friendless orphan girl when about to give up in despair, and who afterwards is rewarded for her benevolence. A pleasing feature of the operetta was the smiling, happy faces of the little girls as they sang and acted their parts. The orchestra consisted of home talent, as follows: Mr. George Dexter, violin; Miss Allie Parkman, cornet; and Miss M. E. Ball, piano. That the ladies who had charge, understood music, and possess the art of imparting it to others, is attested by the happy manner in which the young ladies and gentlemen acquitted themselves in the various parts. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon Mrs. Davis and Miss Young, for the great success they have achieved in this, the first operetta ever attempted in this town.

The following is the programme of the exhibition at the close of the fall term of East Corinth Academy, David Fletcher, principal, and Miss Ella M. Mathews, preceptress: Instrumental music, Miss M. E. Ball and Geo. Dexter; Salutatory, Miss Annie F. Savage; Declamation—Marco Bozzaris, C. F. Megquier; Reading—Waiting at the Gate, Miss Mary L. Duran; Declamation—Our National Anniversary, E. W. Jones; Recitation—Angels of Buena Vista, Miss Bertie M. Kingsbury; Solo—Under the Daisies, Miss Annie A. Katen; Declamation—Icilius, Wilson S. Smith; Reading—America for Freedom, Fannie E. Katon; Declamation—The Negro's Complaint, C. L. Duran; Recitation—Widder Green's Last Words, Nettie E. McGregory; Declamation—The Two Roads, Willie M. Tate; Solo—The Bridge, Nettie J. Trickey; Recitation—Whistling in Heaven, Mary J. Chandler; Declamation—The Yankee and the Dutchman's Dog, Frank P. Morison; Recitation—The Beleaguered City, Chestina M. Tate; Declamation—The Pleasures of Knowledge, Geo. Kendall; Recitation—The Golden Side, Lillian A. Hanscom; Solo—My Grandmother's Watch, Bertie M. Kingsbury; Dialogue—Yankee Assurance, ———; Recitation—Driving Home the Cows, Mamie A. Katen; Declamation—Keeping the Bridge, R. S. Browne; Declamation—The September Gale, Willie M. Tate; Duet—In the Starlight, Misses Katen; Declamation—The Ship, S. D. Page; Recitation—The Milkmaid, Nettie J. Trickey; Declamation—To the Student, Forest D. Goodwin; Cornet Solo, Miss Allie Parkman.

Each student responded promptly to his name, not one asking to be excused, and it was, on the whole, the best exhibition ever given by the students of this Institution. The instrumental music was excellent, as was the singing. Where all performed their parts so well, it seems almost out of place to give any one special praise, but we cannot refrain from speaking of the declamations of Messrs. Wilson S. Smith, Geo. Kendall, and Forest O. Goodwin, as of special merit; the recitations of Miss Bertie Kingsbury, Miss Nettie J. Trickey, and Miss Mary R. Chandler. The ball was crowded to its utmost capacity, with the parents and friends of the students, which must have gladdened the hearts of the teachers who had been so faithful to their trust.

TUESDAY, NOV. 14, 1882.

There have been 2,333 cases of yellow fever in Pensacola, Fla., the present season and 192 deaths.

The Republican majority in Illinois for State Treasurer is estimated at about 7,500 and the Republican majority in the Legislature now appears to be 11.

Mr. Carlisle, of Kentucky, and his friends are very confident that he will be Speaker of the next House. The contest between him and Mr. Randall will be a lively one.

During the past quarter of a century England has reduced her national debt $375,000,000. The United States in the seventeen years since the war, has effected a reduction three times as great.

The Russian Government has just begun to build at Sebastopol a new dock, to take the place of the one destroyed during the great siege more than a quarter of a century ago. It will require three years to complete it. The cost is estimated at about 30,000,000 rubles. M. Volodeen, of St. Petersburg, is the contractor. Since the siege Sebastopol has possessed no regular dock. Of late years it has used a floating one.

Senator Bayard, the sturdy Democratic Senator from Delaware, expresses the opinion that "the Republican party is breaking up and going to pieces." If this distinguished Democrat, as well as other Democratic leaders had not expressed the same opinion in 1874, after the Republican reverses of that year, his present prediction would have more weight. Mr. Bayard will find two years hence a pretty lively Republican party for one that has "broken up."
—Lewiston Journal.

What manufacturers are doing for the South is illustrated by the town of Wesson in Mississippi, which not long since was a pine forest. The town has a cotton mill which gives work to 1,000 people, uses up 4,500 bales of cotton a year, has a set of hands at work all day and another all night, and is lighted by electricity. It makes doeskins, cassimeres, jeans, cottonades, knitting cotton, sewing thread, towels, etc. Wesson has a population of 2,500.

Mr. Oliver Ames, Lieutenant Governor-elect of Massachusetts, although now a man of great wealth, was trained to work and did work for years in his father's shops as a common journeyman shovel maker. The proficiency he attained as a mechanic is shown by the fact that for years he alone made all the prize shovels and other tools exhibited by the firm at fairs in this and other countries. His example is being followed by his son, now twenty years old, who daily works at the bench and anvil.

The Boston Journal says: "Maine Republicans did their utmost to help us in the late contest. Senator Frye made a number of very effective speeches and was called for by a hundred towns. Representative Reed made a half dozen exellent speeches. Gen. James A. Hall gave the State Committee more than two weeks of his service, which was most effective. United States District Attorney Lunt and Orville D. Baker, Esq., came later, but came as soon as called and did good service."

The Women's Silk Culture Association of Philadelphia proposes to show by an exhibition next month what it has accomplished during its existence of two and a half years in the way of introducing a light and profitable industry into this country. Thirteen premiums for the best native silk will be offered—three of them for the exclusive benefit of colored persons—and it is thought that there will be between fifty and sixty competitors. The public-spirited ladies who organized the Association are rewarded for their labors by the belief that with the coming exhibition their enterprise will pass beyond the stage of experiment.

The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has received the annual reports for the several Indian industrial schools. S. C. Armstrong, principal of the school at Hampton, reports that the total attendance during the year was 96, and the number now connected with the school, 84—30 girls and 54 boys. Lieut. M. C. Wilkinson in charge of the school at Forest Grove, Oregon, reports a total attendance of 91—54 boys and 37 girls. The report of the superintendent of the Carlisle school shows that 188 Indian boys and 102 Indian girls were at the school at the close of the fiscal year. There were more than $5,000 worth of wagons, harnesses and shoes made by the students during the year. The progress of the students in their studies is regarded as highly satisfactory.

William H. Kennedy has been elected coroner of New York city. That looks like a very simple and conclusive statement. And it is also indisputably true. Yet it has aroused great contention in the metropolis because, unfortunately, there are at least three or four gentlemen in the city of exactly the above name, and two of them claim to be good Democrats and to have been nominated and elected to the position of coroner. One is an undertaker the other a hotel keeper. The latter is willing to draw the salary of the position and allow his counterfeit Dromio to act as deputy coroner and collect the fees; but the undertaker will hear to no such proposition. A committee of legal lights will sit in arbitration on the case.

Statistics of the loss of life by fire in 14 of the principal cities of Europe between 1869 and 1879 place London at the head of the list. In every 100,000 persons in that period 8.3 lives were destroyed, while in Munich only 0.4 out of the same number perished. The Pall Mall Gazette can understand why fires in such towns as Cologne and Hanover, with their narrow thoroughfares and old wooden houses, should generally result in serious loss of life, "but London," it says, "possessing as it does, an extensive fire brigade and a fair supply of water, should at the least be as free from such accidents as the average city of the Continent. If these figures are corroborated by independent inquiry, they point to some serious defect in the construction of our houses or in our system for preventing fire."

UNITED STATES MILITARY POSTS.

General Sherman has submitted to the Secretary of War a special report upon the subject of military posts and forts, in which he says: "The time is now for a radical change in the whole system of piecemeal work in quartering the troops of the United States. For a hundred years we have been sweeping across the continent with a skirmish line, building a post here and another there, to be abandoned next year for another line, and so on. Now we are across, and have railroads everywhere, so that the whole problem is changed, and I advise the honorable Secretary of War to go to Congress with a plan that will approximate permanency, instead of as heretofore meeting specific temporary wants by special appropriations, often in the interest of private parties."

Gen. Sherman recommends that the following posts should be held permanently, and that barracks should be built of brick or stone for the number of companies mentioned: Fort Assiniboine, Dak., ten companies; Boise Barracks, Idaho, four companies; Fort D. A. Russell, Cheyenne, six companies; Fort Douglas, Utah, six companies; Fort Gibson, Indian Territory, four companies; Fort Laramie, Wy., six companies; Fort Leavenworth, Kan., twelve companies; Little Rock, Ark., two companies, Madison Barracks, New York, ten companies; Fort Marcy, Santa Fe, N. M., two companies; Fort Marion, Fla., two companies; Fort Meade, Dak., four companies; Mount Vernon, Barracks, Ala., two companies; Newport Barracks, Ky., two companies; Omaha, Neb., ten companies; Fort Riley, Kan., six companies; San Antonio, Tex., twelve companies; San Diego, Cal., two companies; Fort Sill, Indian Territory, six companies; Fort Snelling, Minn., six companies; Fort Sully, Dak., four companies; Fort Walla Walla, Washington Territory, six companies; Washington Barracks, six companies, and Fort Wingate, N. M., six companies.

For the enlargement and improvement of these military posts General Sherman recommends that the Secretary of War ask of Congress annually $1,000,000 say for five years, to be expended at his discretion by the officers of the Quartermaster's Department, and by that process he thinks he will have for the whole army an abundance of good quarters which will endure for the next fifty years.

The members of our National Guard who shoot at Wimbleton, in June, 1883, against the British Volunteers, will certainly have no reason to complain that the English riflemen wish to possess any advantage over them. The Council of the Rifle Association of Great Britain has agreed to the most important of the modifications in the rules suggested by the American Association. There is no reason now why our best marksmen should not become members of the National Guard in time to shoot in the contest next year. The competitors at Wimbleton then would be more evenly matched than they were at Creedmoor.

The State of New York has voted by an authoritative and irrevocable majority to make the canals of the Commonwealth free highways for transportation. There can be no reasonable doubt that this will result in immense advantage to the State at large, says the Providence Journal, as it must especially so result to the benefit of the city of New York. The Erie canal has been a monument of the foresight and wisdom of the earlier statesmen of the Empire State; in the new condition of things consequent upon the construction of railroads, and the strenuous efforts of Canada to compete for western freight, the freedom of this great artery of communication became an almost absolute necessity, if not so positively, in order that New York should retain its commercial supremacy in the relative degree it has hitherto maintained. And while the change will prove profitable most directly to the city of New York, the State will indirectly be advantaged as will all New England dealing with New York, by the cheaper transportation. It is precisely one of those cases where reduction of price is more than compensated by additional business; and where the advantage is necessarily distributed over an area greater than the one having the legal control.

The Harvard Co-operative Society, which was formed by the students of the University at Cambridge, Mass., last February, is already regarded as a successful undertaking. Any student of the University may become a member by the payment of an annual fee of $2, and the membership now includes about 700 students. The society was given possession of the old gymnasium, opposite Memorial Hall, which it now uses as a furniture department, while part of a large store in the business portion of the town is its headquarters. The articles which are dealt in, such as stationery, books, pictures, clothing, fuel, and sporting goods, are purchased at wholesale and sold to members at an advance of 5 per cent. The sale of second-hand furniture is a prominent feature of the society's business and one which is of no little benefit to retiring Seniors and incoming Freshmen, saving them from the cupidity of local speculators. A large number of Boston tradesmen have contracted with the society to give a discount to all its accredited members. It is stated that students are enabled to buy books at an average reduction of 33⅓ per cent. on the retail prices; stationery at a reduction of 33 per cent.; lawn tennis goods at 20 per cent. less than their regular price, while on stylographic pens they save 60 per cent., on fuel 8 per cent., on photographs 50 per cent., and on most other articles about 10 per cent. A superintendent and an assistant superintendent, both students, have charge of the society's work, which is likely to be imitated in other American colleges.

The death of Mr. Amos Ide reminds the Providence Press of an early battle in the temperance cause, of which he was long a champion. Forty years ago a house was built on a scow and moored to a Pawtucket wharf. "A few of our older citizens," says the Press, "recollect this ark, but it was not called an ark. It was known as the 'Flotilla,' and was constructed for the purpose of evading the liquor law of Massachusetts by selling rum on the water, which the rumsellers claimed was neutral ground. A blind bar was arranged in the house and the rum poked through a hole with a sliding door, the seller of the liquor being out of sight. The bacchanalian scenes in this 'Flotilla' were terrible. Fights were hourly occurrences and men would stagger from this 'Flotilla' on to the wharf and there fight and bang themselves until they were unable to stand. These scenes were witnessed by women and children and crowds would collect to see the poor, wretched drunkards tear each other to pieces. A number of citizens organized themselves into a secret association for the purpose of destroying the 'Flotilla.' Mr. Amos Ide, who was always a staunch temperance man, was one of the party. On a dark night these men disguised themselves, boarded the concern and set it on fire. The fire was hailed with delight by the people and it made one of the finest displays of fireworks ever witnessed in Pawtucket. From the building arose a flame of variegated colors, and, as the casks of liquors burst the contents took fire and spread a blaze of fire all over the river. It was a grand illustration of the fiery regions, and hallelujahs rose high when the 'Flotilla' burnt to the water's edge. Who the party was that destroyed this floating rumshop was not known for many years, and it is believed that all who took an active part in it, with one or two exceptions, have passed away."

The Mobile (Ala.) Register asserts that the election in that State was as peaceful as that of any Northern State. Yes, but the Register cannot make us forget, remarks the Boston Journal, that peace in the black region was secured by lynching one colored leader and putting several more in prison, and by another disturbance raised over the report of a negro rising, which kept thousands of citizens from voting. The Register should understand that the Northern Republican press knows that in one district in Alabama where the colored voters have not less than 10,000 majority, a Republican Congressman would be elected if there was a free election and an honest count.

LOOK OUT!

Hundreds of men insure their houses, or their stock of goods, and forget, until a fire comes, that their last premium was unpaid.

Hundreds insure their lives and are not reminded until the doctor is summoned, and the family are all astir over the sick man, that they forgot to take up their renewal—and their policy has lapsed.

In these matters a good old maxim suggests itself: "Having laid hold of the plow, never look back." Whatever else may get behindhand, see that your Life Insurance premiums never go by default.

Policies in the Conn. Mutual Life Ins. Co., issued under the NEW PLAN, meet the wants of the public.

A Republican Congressman in Missouri.

ST LOUIS, Nov 13. The City Register has concluded the canvass of the votes cast in the 9th Congressional District and they give McLean, Rep, a majority of 21 over Broadhead, Dem, for the long term Broadhead has a majority of 205 in the city, but the county precincts overcome this and give McLean 100 majority.

Republican Delegate.

BOIS CITY, Idaho, Nov. 13. T F. Sieggen, Rep, is elected a delegate to Congress by 3,100 majority so far as heard from but it is probable complete returns will increase the majority to 3 500.

The Iowa Fifth District.

MARSHALLTOWN, Nov. 13. The result of the Congressional election in the 5th district hinges upon the vote of Taylor township The county, which was thrown out by the Board because the returns were signed by only two Judges, the third Judge's name having been added by the clerk, as the Judge himself could not be found gave Wilson, Rep., 40 majority, and would give him a majority of 23 in the district, whereas with the vote thrown out Frederick Dem, has a majority of 17.

FROM WASHINGTON.

General News.

Personal Matters

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 Assistant Secretary New is expected to resume his duties at the Treasury to-morrow Fifth Auditor Alexander, just returned from Indiana, states that he has been in Mr New's company the past ten days and is confident that New has not resigned and has no such intention Secretary Chandler is expected to return to Washington this afternoon Secretary Lincoln is expected to arrive here to-night from Chicago.

The President was at the White House a little o'clock this morning and remained during the day. There were very few callers It is expected that the repairs to the White House will be completed by the end of the present month A meeting of the Cabinet will be held here to-morrow.

Alleged Jury Bribers.

No day has been fixed for the hearing in the case of Fred E Snaw, charged with attempting to influence the Star Route jury. His counsel, Judge Pollard, declines to express his intention relative to waiving an examination before the Police Court. It is positively asserted that Foote, the remaining fugitive in these cases, is in the city and that his counsel, O. S B. Wall, will surrender him after he has arranged to procure bail.

New York Custom House.

Messrs. James and Graves, of the Commission appointed to examine into the civil service of the New York Custom House, have returned to the Treasury Department. The investigation has closed so far as the collection of data is concerned and the Commission will prepare their report as soon as possible.

Decision Against Gen. Curtis

The Supreme Court decision in the case of Gen Curtis has denied the application for a habeas corpus, the Court affirming the constitutionality of the law forbidding Government employes from becoming treasurers for funds raised by assessments upon other employes of the Government Curtis will have to pay the fines imposed upon him for violating the law, amounting to $1,000, and a larger sum for costs and lawyers' fees.

Melville's Narrative.

In Melville's narrative, to day, he gave the following account of the last time he saw Captain DeLong and the other boats He said he had orders to keep astern of the first cutter, but as the whale boat was the faster boat, resort was had to lowering the sail, but when this was done the sea came in over the stern. About this time the whole boat was a little ahead of the first cutter on her weather bow. Captain DeLong signalled and the witness ordered the sail lowered so as to drift down within hail. The sea, however, began to tumble in over the stern. and Captain DeLong apparently seeing the status of the whale boat, waved his hand as witness interpreted it to indicate to him that he did not desire to hail. Witness understood the signal to mean he should run before the wind and look out for his own boat regardless of previous orders, to keep at all times within sight of the first cutter. In a few minutes the whale boat was out of sight of the other two boats. This was the last the witness ever saw of the second cutter or her people, and the last he saw of the people in the first cutter until he found them dead in the Lena Delta. He then gave the details of their trials until they landed, which was covered by the previous testimony of Danenhower.

The Remains of De Long and Party.

Mr. Hunt has informed the Navy Department that the burial cases intended for the bodies of De Long and his comrades has been received by him at St. Petersburg and forwarded to Cronburg, where they will be retained till the arrival of Lieut. Harber with the bodies. Minister Hunt further says he has received no news whatever of Lieut. Harber and associates and fears the advancing season may interfere with the execution of the orders sent them by the Department.

COLLISION AT SEA.

A Steamer and All Hands Believed to Have Been Lost.

LONDON, Nov. 13. The steamer Westphalia, from New York for Hamburg, put in at Portsmouth with a hole in her bow, which she received by collision with a steamer which is now off the Isle of Wight in apparently serious danger. A boat was sent out from the Westphalia and that is also missing. The Westphalia is making water rapidly and will be docked.

Later.

PORTSMOUTH, Nov. 13. It is believed the missing steamer has sunk with all hands. The boat of the Westphalia, which is also missing, contained an officer and six men and it is supposed they were also drown d. It was intensely dark at the time of the collision. The Westphalia experienced a heavy sea wind while making for Portsmouth. The Westphalia had 90 passengers on board at the time of the collision. Besides a large hole in her port bow, extending to below the water line, there are several small holes in her starboard bow. Her bulkhead was stove and both steam and manual pumps had to be kept going from 1.30 A M., when the collision occurred, till the vessel reached Portsmouth this afternoon. The other steamer could not stop.

Capt. Ludwig despatched a boat to try to see some trail of her. He gave the officer in charge of the boat instructions to land after completing his search. He then made ready all of the Westphalia's boats for landing in event of the water gaining, and made for Portsmouth. A powerful government tug has gone to assist in pumping the Westphalia. Mails and passengers have been landed and will be forwarded to Hamburg to-morrow by the German vice consul. It is not thought the cargo is damaged.

A Law Suit.

NEW YORK, Nov 13. In the action of Talcott H. Russell, as Receiver of the American National Life and Trust Company of New Haven, Conn., against Augustus T. Post and Ellwood E. Thorne, in the U. S. Circuit Court, notice was filed to-day in the Clerk's office that the plaintiff would renew his motion to make Benjamin Noyes a party defendant in the suit, which motion was heretofore denied, July 17, 1882. The action was originally begun in the Superior Court in this State and Noyes was not made a party defendant for the reason that Noyes was a citizen and resident of Connecticut, so the plaintiff's affidavit sets forth. It is also averred that in April, 1875, Noyes was President of the American National Life and Trust Company, which Company had been a defendant in several proceedings instituted by the Connecticut Insurance Commissioners to wind up and appoint a Receiver. In two of the proceedings the Company was found to have been deeply involved and insolvent. These proceedings were the avowed reason of the reinsurance of the American National Life and Trust Company in the National Capital Insurance Company of Washington, the contract of reinsurance stating that it was entered into for the purpose of getting beyond the jurisdiction of the Connecticut authorities. The defendant, Post, about 1870, had frequent dealings with the American National Life and Trust Company, and with Noyes, its President, involving the transfer and sale of property amounting to $20,000. Post has also been a resident of New Haven and an employe of Mr. Sargent, who became a director of the said Trust Company. Post was also present during a portion of the trials, in two of which he testified for the Trust Company. At the time of the reinsurance of the Trust Company in the National Capital Insurance Company, of Washington, he facilitated the consummation by furnishing certain town and county bonds, after frequent personal negotiations with Noyes and Henry D. Walker, now deceased. Plaintiff's theory of the case is that Noyes, Post and Thorne were equally possessed of guilty knowledge of the facts connected with the conspiracy set up in the complaint.

An Old Man Robbed of Over $5,000.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 13. Intelligence has been received at the police headquarters that Edward Holroyd, a miser and hermit, who lives in a lonely spot in Spencer township, a few miles from the city, has been robbed of five one thousand 7.30 Government bonds. He says that Friday night he was awakened by four masked men standing about his bed, one of whom held a lantern. They dragged him from bed and demanded his money, but he refused to tell where it was concealed and they beat and kicked him and threatened his life. He still refused to divulge where his treasure was hid and one of the men put the heel of his boot on one of the miser's big toes and turned about on it, tearing off the nail. Another found some old newspapers, which were lighted and the flames were held against the old man's bare body. Then he weakened and told them where the bonds were concealed. No coupons had been cut from them for twenty years. It is believed there were more robbers ransacking the house, but they found only $6. No clue to the robbers.

Gladstone said no such treaty had been made. He challenged the opposition to move an inquiry on the subject. UNWELCOME VISITOR. The Bath Times says: When the lady who represented Dolly Dutton in Hazel Kirke returned to the dressing room at the hall last Thursday evening at the close of an act, she was startled by the sight of a man entering the dressing room by an open window. The lady screamed and as the company ran to her assistance the intruder fled. A ladder had been placed at the window and the would be thief had made an entry in that way. The manager of the Madison Square Hazel Kirke Company protests against a dressing room with no curtains or window fastenings. The window of the dressing room is but one story from the ground at the back side of the hall. It is most probable that the motive of the attempted entry was robbery. The ladder was taken from a yard near by.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE OF A HANCOCK COUNTY SEA CAPTAIN. The Press says that Andrew Carter, of Brooklin, Me., captain of a fishing schooner, while insane imagined he was pursued by police, jumped from a train and attempted suicide. He was found near Scarboro, behind a fence leading from the roadside, with his throat cut, the gash being some three inches long and gaping open nearly three-quarters of an inch, and an ugly wound was also found in the abdomen, as if he had attempted to disembowel himself. There were also serious contusions about the head and face, as though he had been struck by a club. Carter said he attempted to kill himself because he had been accused of taking liberties with a girl in Saco, that she had complained of him to the police of that city, and officers were after him and he heard them coming over the wires. He appeared very cool and said he had thrown away the knife with which he had inflicted the wounds upon himself, and also his watch and pocket book. Part of his money he had burned and the black ashes laid by him. The rest of the money was collected in a torn condition where he had flung it after tearing it in pieces.

A COMPLICATED AFFAIR.

We have chronicled the capture in Clinton, on Saturday last, by Bangor officers, of the horse stolen on the night of Nov. 3rd, from the stable of Michael Rafter, in the town of Jefferson, Lincoln county. A telegram was sent to Mr. Rafter announcing that the mare had been recovered and he accordingly came at once to Bangor, arriving here yesterday. The animal is a fine one and has been purchased by City Marshal Reed of Mr. Rafter.

The capture was quite remarkable and reflects great credit on the officers. Rarely is there a more complicated case to unravel than was presented in this instance. Officers Costigan and Gordon had a long cruise and encountered myriad obstacles, but finally had the satisfaction of beholding their efforts entirely successful. An outline of the affair will be found interesting reading.

The thief stole the horse, wagon and harness in Jefferson, as above stated, and also took a whip from the carriage house of William Weeks, the 2nd, in the same town. The thief drove to South Liberty, where he traded wagons, and then came to Hampden. In the latter town he swapped the horse and harness with Elijah Walker, and received in exchange a horse, harness, two watches and $3 in money. The thief then took his newly acquired team to Winterport and disposed of it to Asa Smith, of that place, for the large sum of $5.00. and then with the whip, the two watches and the $3 in money, started off on foot. It is thus readily seen that the fellow made no great fortune by his escapade.

Elijah Walker then took the animal (the stolen one) he had obtained by trading and went to Thorndike, where he swapped with his uncle, Mr. Walker, receiving in exchange another horse, $17 50 in cash, a bull and also a sheep. Almost immediately after the transaction Mr. Walker, of Thorndike, sent his son with the animal to Troy, and he disposed of her to Al. Wright, receiving in return a large gray horse, $10 in money and a hog. Wright started the same night he obtained the animal and drove her to Clinton, where he traded with Leonard Jerrell, of the latter town for a pair of horses. The Bangor officers arrived in Clinton just at the right time, as Mr. Jerrell intended within a few hours to take the animal to Augusta or New Portland.

POLICE COURT.

The Arraignment of Young Hall.

The Police Court was drossed yesterday afternoon with numerous spectators drawn thither by the announcement that Charles Hall, the young man who committed the heavy robbery at the Hermon farmhouse of Silas Miller, would be arraigned. Sundry civil cases came up for consideration, and the gathering grew rather restless before the accompanied by Officer McCoy and Deputy Sheriff Patten, entered the court room. And upon arraignment, the prisoner plead guilty of the charge, and accordingly the privilege of trial. Mr. Miller and a large number of Hermon people were present in the court room. Judge Brett bound the prisoner over to the February term of the Supreme Judicial Court in the sum of $1 000. He will not be successful in obtaining bail, and has been removed from the station house to the county jail.

AMUSEMENTS

The Lingards.

The entertainment to be presented in the Opera House on Thursday evening next is of rare interest and will introduce the beautiful and accomplished Alice Dunning Lingard in delightful characters. The exquisite manner in which the talented actress presents her delineations is well known and highly commended by the press ever

THE MADDENED QUILL DRIVER.

R. J. BURDETTE.

Night brooded over the scene—a habit that night has between the hours of sunset and sunrise. During those hours the sun rarely shines in our latitude, and night has everything its own way, with a clear field to itself.

Godfrey Stiehlpen sat at his table in the sanctum of the Morning Tamboree, his idle pencil in his listless fingers, and his aching head resting upon one weary hand. The solitary bell in a distant steeple has just tolled 1 A. M. There was a famine of copy on the hook, and the echoes of the clamors of inappeasable compositors came rumbling in ghostly cadences down the speaking tube, and once the sarcastic tones of the foreman's voice penetrated the dismal sanctum, conveying to Mr. Stiehlpen the entirely superfluous information that this "was not an afternoon paper," and furthermore that he "would like to go to press before the men went to dinner." Mr. Stiehlpen sighed heavily, and in an abstracted manner turned over the closely-written pages of his note-book.

For twenty-two years he had sat at that table and praised everything that ever came within fifty miles of Shawneetown. Horses, bird-dogs, new houses, minstrel troupes, new goods, lectures, eminent citizens, big radishes, tall corn, long jumps, speeches, brass bands, imported cows, fine waltzers, new road wagons, fancy gates, concerts, fairs, hops and debating societies. He had noted the uprising of the eminent citizen, and observed his lying down, he watched his coming and going, and to night he was weary. He had written up two speeches a social hop, a nine-hundred-dollar horse, an imported pig, a new fence a big egg, a seventeen pound tumor, a lecture, and here was a concert to be written up. He knew what a delicious matter this was. He knew that woe waited upon his footsteps if he failed to notice each performer at length and in perfect detail. Wrath and denunciation hovered above his head, ready to fall in one destroying deluge if he said anybody sang or played better than anybody else. How could he meet the father of the young lady who wore the expensive dress on the stage, and yet got a notice four lines shorter than the shoemaker's daughter who had nothing in the world but her voice to commend her to public notice? How could he look Miss Uppercea in the face when in his description of her exquisite rendition of "Monastery Bells" he forgot, or perhaps with malice aforethought intentionally omitted, to mention the cost of her diamonds? He sighed as he remembered how often he had been through all this, and here it was one o'clock in the morning, his hand was tired and his head ached, and the notes of his one hundred and eleventh concert were still echoing in his brain and were waiting on the pages of his own note book for his own transcription.

He rose, and dragged from its dusty shelf an old bound volume of the Tamboree, looked over some of his old reports, with a view of changing the dates and names and using them over, to save time and trouble as he had often done before. But his head was heavy, and the concert of the previous evening differed in so many respects from all its predecessors that he was forced to abandon his labor-saving scheme so dear to the heart of the ambitious and pains-taking reporter.

"I have praised people for twenty-two years," he muttered, again seating himself at his table, "and I am tired of it. I am not in the praising humor to-night. I sigh for something new. My longing soul aspires to originality. I had rather abuse a man a column than puff him ten lines. I will write up these notes in a style that will have at least the merit of originality, and will please everybody, who doesn't find his name in the paper to-morrow."

His pencil flew over the sheets of paper like a walking match, the sarcastic utterance of the foreman ceased, the distant clamor of the intelligent compositors was hushed and only now and then the muffled groans that came sadly down the speaking tube told that some printer was trying to decide whether a blot, a long waving line, two dots and a dash was "commencement," "communion," "cineration," or "emancipation." Mr Stiehlpen laughed hoarsely as he heard the groans.

"Howl for copy, will you?" he chuckled defiantly. "I'll give you copy that will make your heart sick."

And he wrote more wildly than ever, and only said, "Ha, ha!" when word came that the distracted proof-reader in the next room had hanged himself.

* * * * *

Next morning, while Godfrey Stiehlpen slept, the Tamboree was opened at a thousand happy breakfast tables, and joy was turned to mourning as, amid weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth, the first thing the subscribers read was as follows:

A PHANTOM HOSS. Ben Harrigan came all the way to our office last evening to tell us that he had just received an imported invertebrate thoroughbred from England a magnificent stepper with a record of 2.25 that cost him nine hundred dollars. Warnock, it whose stables this matchless wonder is housed, informs us that it is a Maxall County horse, seventeen years old and worth about twenty dollars for lady's driving. It seems to us Harrigan is worse as he draws nearer the grave.

After this came the annexed paragraph.

CHEAP PIG.—Former Thistlepod dragged its seven blocks through the scorching sun yesterday down to a freight depot to see his new two-hundred dollar imported pig. Marshal Henry afterwards told us it was a pig that had been in pound for three weeks, and Thistlepod only paid two dollars for it. It is one of the genuine prairie schooner breed, with a snout thirty-eight inches long, and can jump a stake-and-rider fence without touching a hoof. Thistlepod has always been notorious for keeping miserable stock.

PERSONAL.—Old Archie McIntosh left town last evening to the great delight of all his acquaintances—he has no friends—for a trip to Mud Lake. He left a note for us stating that he was going for his health. This means a two week's drunk. We wondered who lent him enough money to get out of town?

But the crowning glory of the Morning Tamboree was the concert notice. It read as follows:

GRAND CONCERT.—The regular annual exhibition of good clothes and bad music, that has grown to be a feature of the musical world in Shawneetown, came off last evening at the Opera House. Every seat in the hall was taken, for our patient community has become accustomed to this affliction, and submits to it without a murmur four or five times a year very much as they take quinine in the spring.

Those people who came stamping in late, as usual, after the Shawneetown style, are to be congratulated this time, as they escaped hearing the "Arion Quartette" sing "Here in Cool Grot." It is due to the "Arion Quartette" however, to say it was not the worst singing of the evening. The audience thought it certainly would be the worst; and so, indeed, it was, until later in the evening the same quartette botched "Come Where my Love Lies Dreaming." It was dreadful beyond description and the deafening applause which followed it only testified the great joy of the audience on being assured that the "Arion Quartette" would sing no more that evening.

Miss Abigail McGinnessy rendered a recitative and aria, by Cappola, in the manner that has long ago become so sadly familiar to our suffering people, and is always a source of profound embarrassment to the accompanist, who floundered along last night in the patient but vain hope of getting even with the singer somewhere by scrambling across lots, and heading her off in some unusually prolonged run. But this was impossible, and singer and accompanist were never within six bars of each other during the whole of the alleged performance. Mr. Poundawa, the time-honored accompanist in all these affairs, by the way, did even worse than usual last evening. We are pained to notice that his habit of playing on the edge of the piano, two inches away from the keys, grows upon him, and he should either change his drink or his vocation.

Mrs. Bangalon played "Monastery Bells" as usual. It was disguised under a French name in the program; but every one knows what is coming after Mrs. Bangalon finally gets the piano moved into precisely the right place—which is always just where it stood before she had it moved the first time—and after seating herself for the fiftieth time, finally concludes to remain seated. Mrs. Bangalon's unvarying habit of wearing her gloves to the piano, and occupying seven minutes in removing them, is not an affectation. It is an act of mercy, and gave the people nearest the door an opportunity to slip out before she begins to play. The reporters of the city press used to go out at this time; but since Bangalon has taken to standing at the door to watch refugees, they have, with excellent taste and better judgment, abandoned the custom and silently swallowed their full cup of misery. As Mrs. Bangalon left the stage Joab Garbey, who was asleep in the gallery, fell off his chair, and mistaking the noise for an encore, Mrs. Bangalon returned and pounded out the "Maiden's Prayer." Somebody ought to kill that man Garbey.

"Professor" Sownpost played a violin solo—De Beriot's "Seventh Air." Everybody was grateful that he didn't try the eighth. The professor dresses like a waiter, and handles a fiddle like a graduate from a side-show. He is in great demand at all the dances down at Wyseker's Branch and the Sassafras Bottoms, and it is believed in fact, that all his musical education was acquired at Dan Coseman's store, at the old ford, on Clymer's Creek. He is trying to get up a class in this city, and if this man attempts to teach our boys to play on the fiddle as he does, he ought to be lynched. And he will be if the Tamboree has any influence in musical circles.

It was as good as a circus to hear Madame Paraplue sing "Robert, toi que j'aime." If the old lady's lungs were as big as her feet she might sing more and wheeze less. As it is, candor compels us to say that a case of asthma weighing two hundred and seventeen pounds is no artistic addition to a concert.

Miss Uppercea played the same old "Improvisation" she began playing in these concerts eighteen years ago. It lasts about as well as her diamonds and changes about as little. It is time she had it published and improvised something new.

Jim Flourlow came out and sang his unchanging "Ah, so far." The agony of the audience during this time of trial was fairly insupportable. His high notes are greatly admired, because his voice always breaks into a thin falsetto squeak on them and he can't make so much noise as he can on his chest tones. If Jim had been born dumb, or his audience deaf, the world would be much happier. Some time he will go away from home and sing, and the judge will give him sixty days for it. Still this would not be extravagant. His singing is worth it, every day of it.

The only excuse for putting Miss Maltby on the programme every time there is a concert in Shawneetown, is that her father is worth eighty thousand dollars, and owns the biggest brewery in Lowell County.

With a voice, musical education and general ability about up to the grade of "Baby Mine," she sang her old stand-by last night, the "Spinning-wheel Song" from "Faust." If Marguerite could have sung it as Miss Maltby sung it, it would have saved the poor child a world of trouble. It would have scared "Faust," "Mephistopheles," and the whole gang of them out of the country. There is more music in Mr Maltby's bung-starters than there is in his daughter. Much has heretofore been said in these columns about Miss Maltby's beauty. While the spirit of truth is upon us we are free to admit that she is pretty—in the dark.

Mr Bellows sang "Oh, ye Tears." Mr Bellows has a rich baritone voice—a wheelbarrow tone, that is. Unfortunately for his effort last evening, nobody knew he was singing until he finished the butchery of Art and bowed himself off the stage. Everybody thought he was just trying his voice. If ever his voice is tried, it will be convicted on its own evidence.

James H. Blowson and Elbert Hafut sang "Larboard Watch." It is a great pity these young men are not aware that their mouths were made to catch flies with rather than for singing. Hafut's voice is so like a fog-horn that he may be pardoned for a tendency to sing marine songs; but aside from a plea of natural depravity and fiendish misanthropy, there is no excuse whatever for Blowson's attempting to sing in public. These misguided young men were down on the program for a second atrocity but it was omitted at the urgent request of the audience.

The piano used at this massacre was the same jingling old harpsichord from the music store of Jingle, Jangle & Co, that has appeared for a free puff at all local outrages of a musical nature for the past twenty years. Last winter this enterprising house traded off the old dulcimer for a silver watch, but the man who got the alleged piano brought it back, paid seven dollars forfeit, and got his watch and we suppose all future concerts in Shawneetown will be haunted by this venerable nightmare until the police interfere.

Our readers will be delighted to learn that this is the last concert of the season, and a man can go to the Opera House in safety for the next six months.

The receipts of the pandemonium were four hundred and thirty dollars, and old Hardwick, proprietor of the hall, with his accustomed rapacity, gobbled nearly one-fourth of that sum for the use of an old barn that looks shabby, in comparison with a second-rate market house. Six of the thickest-headed young men in Shawneetown, in borrowed dress coats, acted as ushers, and acted most wretchedly at that. Taken altogether, it was the dreariest occasion that has bored a long suffering community since the concert that preceded it.

At the office of the Tamboree people waited for Mr. Stielpen, but he did not come. As the day wore away men sought him at his lodgings, but he was not there. All that the ticket agent at the railway station could tell was that he bought his ticket for San Antonio, Texas, Mr. Stielpen stated that he had been appointed United States Minister to that port, and had been ordered to proceed thither and enter upon his duties at once, and that in all likelihood he would not return to this country until the Peruvian troubles were all settled.

They never saw him again. But long, long after he disappeared, mocking, but anonymous postal-cards used to come to the members of the "Mendelssohn Chorus Society of Shawneetown," asking them to sing him something easy. And oft as they read them the vocalists choked a rising sigh as they thought of the absent reporter, and wished that, wherever he was, the earth might open and swallow him up.

[From the Pittsfield, (Mass.,) Eagle]

Stone in the Bladder is at once a most annoying and very dangerous ailment, but many most remarkable cures have of late been wrought by "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy"—the invention of Dr Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y. Another striking case is now added to the list. Mr. Peter Lawler, of Dalton, Mass., states in a letter to Dr. Kennedy that he had been troubled with bladder complaint for 14 years, and had consulted at different times seven physicians, but nothing beyond temporary allayment of the pain had been worked for him. Towards the end of last January Mr. Lawler called on Dr Kennedy. Sounding him, the doctor "struck stone." He decided that Mr Lawler should first try the "Favorite Remedy," so as, if possible, to avoid an operation. And here is the remarkable result. "Dear Doctor Kennedy—The day after I came home I passed two gravel stones, and am doing nicely now. If you would like to see the stones I will send them to you." This letter bears date "Dalton, Mass., Feb. . ." and is signed "Peter Lawler." The stones which are so large as to warrant for "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy" the claim that it is the most successful specific for Stone yet discovered, are now in Dr Kennedy's possession. Incidentally Mr Lawler also states that the "Favorite Remedy" at the same time cured him of a stubborn case of rheumatism, and it is a fact that in all affections arising out of disorders of the liver or urinary organs it is a searching remedy and works marvelous benefits. It is in itself almost a medicine chest. Order it of your druggist. Price $1 a bottle. d&wlm oct26

Many people think they are sick and doctor for kidney or liver trouble, or dyspepsia, while if the truth were known, the real cause is at the heart. The renowned Dr. Clendinning, startlingly says "one third of my subjects show signs of heart disease." The heart weighs about 9 ounces, and yet a man's twenty-eight pounds of blood passes through it once in a minute and a half, resting not day or night! Surely this subject should have careful attention.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, General Debility, Catarrh, and all disorders caused by a thin and impoverished, or corrupted, condition of the blood; expelling the blood poisons from the system, enriching and renewing the blood, and restoring its vitalizing power.

During a long period of unparalleled usefulness, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has proven its perfect adaptation to the cure of all diseases originating in poor blood and a weakened vitality. It is a highly concentrated extract of Sarsaparilla and other blood-purifying roots, combined with Iodide of Potassium and Iron, and is the safest, most reliable, and most economical blood-purifier and blood-food that can be used.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured.

"AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of the Inflammatory Rheumatism, with which I have suffered for many years. W. H. MOORE."

Durham, Ia., March 2, 1882.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public. E. F. HARRIS."

River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

"Last March I was so weak from general debility that I could not walk without help. Following the advice of a friend I commenced taking AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and think your SARSAPARILLA the greatest blood medicine in the world. JAMES MAYNARD."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.
